New docs join Mercy health system

Aditi Chincholi, M.D., Jasmin M. Martinez, M.D. and Kevin P. O’Donnell, M.D. recently joined the region’s Mercy health system. Chincholi and Martinez both work in West Philadelphia; O’Donnell works in Darby Borough.

Chincholi works at Mercy Health Associates at Chestnut Street. 5630 Chestnut St. as an internist.

She received her medical degree from K.J. Somaiya Medical College and Research Center in Mumbai, India and completed her residency in internal medicine at Mount Sinai St. Luke’s Hospital–West in New York City. Chincholi is a member of the American Medical Association.

Martinez joined Mercy Cardiology, 501 S. 54th St., Suite 126, Philadelphia, and treats heart conditions, such as cardiac arrhythmia, congestive heart failure and coronary artery disease.

She received her medical degree from Universidad Central de Venezuela Luis Razetti Medical School and completed her internal medicine residency at University of Miami – JFK Medical Center.

She completed her fellowship in cardiology at Albert Einstein Medical Center in Philadelphia. Martinez is board certified in echocardiology and nuclear cardiology, and is a member of the American College of Cardiology, the American Heart Association, American Medical Association and the American College of Physicians.

O’Donnell joined Mercy Orthopedics, 1503 Lansdowne Ave. in Darby, and is an orthopedic surgeon who specializes in sports medicine, diagnosing and treating injuries and performing reconstructive and therapeutic procedures for patients of Mercy Fitzgerald Hospital and Mercy Philadelphia Hospital.

O’Donnell received his medical degree from Rutgers University Medical School in Newark, NJ., and was a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha medical honor society there. He completed his residency in orthopedic surgery at the University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, Fla. O’Donnell completed his fellowship in sports medicine at the Rothman Institute at Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia.